I'd like to add a config file that specifies some environment variables. It seems to me that the documentation indicates that I should add this file to the IDE config directory, but I don't know where to find that directory. Any suggestions? A: It is in the config folder under the home directory. Example: ~/WebStorm14/config/EnvDefaults.json 1) If you open a File inside the IDE -> Preferences -> Settings 2) Click on Environment settings 3) Here you can see a tab for Variables If you are looking for a more flexible way, you can also use a config file created with the Settings.settings file and the Project Settings. From the time of his release in June 2019, the internet did not let Jason Voorhees get a break. From putting Voorhees in the headlines, to have a new film in the making, the internet has been busy with Jason-related news. And in the weeks that have followed, Voorhees even managed to carve out a place in the fan's hearts. Fans started a campaign for the release of the iconic "Friday the 13th" icon in action-horror movies and after all, a campaign started on Reddit and came to fruition, with Voorhees' mask, bloody knife and machete released. He also made it to the news following the release of "Jason Goes to Hell: The Final Friday," with fans of the franchise questioning the feasibility of a character that has been portrayed the same way since 1982. Here is a collection of fan-made images that show the character as Jason in different stages of evolution from his first appearance in the 1980s right to his more modern portrayal in the new "Friday the 13th" movie.
